

AID in progress

NEWSLETTER FOR AID CO-CREATED BY THE ERASMUS+ PROGRAMME

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCES

The volunteers have participated in the recording of an experiential video, sharing their experiences, and what volunteering means to them. It is also an enormously enriching experience for them, because when they listen to others they are aware of everything they have learned and gained, friendships, sharing, growing, in the end, as Marisol explained to us, it is a way of living, of facing each day together with the people next to you.

SUMMARY

Description of the project

Spring is coming, the trees are starting to sprout and the field is full of flowers, a new season and a new stage in our project.

Intellectual products are finishing and our elders are being trained as mentors.

AID UPDATE

UCLM and the other partners are finalising the theoretical and practical training phase, which will culminate with the use of the application developed at IO2, the students are eager to start.

We have also started to make the recordings with the impressions of our volunteers about the work done and the perceived effects.

TRAINING IN VOLUNTEERING

The training in volunteering is adapted to the characteristics of the participants and to the different tasks they will carry out, encouraging their participation, for which the curriculum developed in the IO1 has been used.

IO1 has proposed numerous workshops adapted to our students, which have been of great help for motivation and learning as volunteers and mentors. It is also worth mentioning the shared experiences, the peer learning and of course when they have done mentoring experiences and above all it is worth mentioning their great satisfaction for what they have learned and done.
